We had 35 orienteers on a beautiful Tucson summer morning . The floodwaters in the Rillito receded this past week and all was dry. Jaxon Rickel got all 30 controls in 41:33 with Jeff Coker hot on his heels. Cristina Luis also got all 30 controls, squeaking under the 1 hour time limit in 59:53. Alan Craig thought he had them all, but after getting home and watching his livelox route, he realized he did not go to #124, so he only got credit for 29. And somehow I missed it when I reviewed his scoresheet.

There is a great lesson here. I once walked right past a control because I re-folded my map, covering it up. With a score-o it's very easy to overlook a control because your route sequence is all in your head, it's not marked on the map. It's especially tricky when running at full speed and brain cells are starving for oxygen. That's one of the challenges of orienteering, this perpetual conflict between speed and accuracy.

Nancy Coker encountered a rattlesnake near checkpoint 126. She and the snake both survived intact. Welcome to newcomers David Stratton and Jeff Mack. We also enjoyed having 9 members of the Southern Arizona Hiking Club attending.
